DGMT Conference 2023

Membranes for food and pharmaceutical industries

28 February - 1 March 2023 | Kassel

With the two-day conference, the DGMT is creating a forum for discussing the latest innovative technical solutions and concept studies for the future. In addition, the conference provides information on membrane developments on a laboratory scale. We cordially invite you to present new trends and developments on the following main topics:

- Raw material and precursors preparation
- Recyclable material and valuable compound cleaning
- Waste water and waste recycling

One-page abstracts (DIN A4) can be submitted as MS Word files until October 31, 2022 via info@dgmt.org. Presenters will have a maximum of 20 minutes allocated to their presentation followed by 5 minutes Q & A. The conference language is German, lectures are also possible in English.

We are pleased to announce once again, that the contents of the conference will be published by WILEY-VCH GmbH & Co. KGaA. After the conference, the extended versions of the presentations will be published in a special volume of the journal „Chemie Ingenieur Technik“. You will receive more detailed information about the extended version with the information about the acceptance of your abstract or in advance: WILEY Author Guidelines.
